At the consclusion of the sentence Mr. Winnan did not move a muscle and remained standing.

His son Harry reached out and taking his father by the hand gently pulled him into a scat beside him. He then placed his other hand upon his father and son gazed into each other's faces. For a second then it seemed as if both would break dawn, as a suspicious moisture appeared in both their eyes.

Then Mr. Wiman leaned over and whispered to his son. The semblance of a smile passed over their faces, and both leaned back in their chairs, appearently contented.

In the meantime Gen. Tracy and Mr. Boardman had been busy with penell and paper, and Gen. Tracy asked Justice Ingraham what would be Mr. Wiman's actual imprisonment under the sentence, when the deduction for good behavior had been made.

Justice Ingraham replied:

"Three years, eleven months and fifteen days."

Justice Ingraham replied:

"Three years, eleven months and fifteen days."

Gen. Tracy then moved for a certificate of reasonable doubt, and a stay of execution. Justice Ingraham replied that there was nothing before him then on which he could grant such a motion.

He said, however, that he would request the Sheriff not to take the prisoner to Sing Sing until next Tugsday, to allow his counsel to make a motion for the certificate of reasonable doubt before himself or some other Justice.

Mr. Wiman and Deputy Sheriff Brown left the building by the rower ern door, closely followed by the prisoner's some other Justice.

Mr. Wiman and Deputy Sheriff Brown raised an umbrella as soon as they reached the streat and held it over Mr. Wiman and they started to the Tombs.

Just counsile to make a motion, what is being offered.

Fully four-fifths of the people we sell to are those who have shopped elsewhere and found that our goods and prices were right. That's why they became our customers. There's a hint here for you.

Gen. Tracy and Mr. Boardman left the building by an opposite door shortly after Mr. Wiman's departure. Mr.
Boardman said to an "Evening World" reporter that an application would be made to-morrow or next day for a certifficate of reasonable doubt.

A petition, signed by about one hundred and fifty or two bundred residents of Staten Island, neighbors of Mr. Wiman, was presented to Justice Ingraham before the opening of the court, asking that the sentence be made as light as possible.

Justice Ingraham read his remarks in connection with the sentence from notes, which he turned over to the court stenographer, but instructed him to destroy them.

The thing to do with a healthy child is to have it clean twice a day, when it goes to bed at night and when it dresses fresh about the middle of the day. The healthlest bables in the world get dressed in the morning for all day just as soon as the child begins to level and wants to get at its feet it ought to be put in short clothes and put on the fleor to work out its own salvation. Its muscles were given it to use, and it will put them to the test if you will give it a chance. The Committee of Arrangements her has been working industriously for the Caring for Babies.

I know a mother who is going to ruin the health of her baby in her excessive care for its clean clothes, says a writer in the Washington Star. The poor little thing never gets to creep over the floor after the dancing sunbeams, or to Rick its dimpled legs in the air in a vain endeavor to catch its ten pink loss. Not a bit of it; it is fed at a certain hear which is all right—but afterwards it is placed in its crib, where its long drisses, starched till they crack, are straightened out as smooth as pillow sips, and there it lies with its legs pinkoned down by neavy skirts, its muscles growing flaby from inaction, and its blood sigs.

The Greenwich Wheelmen have added another feature to their long list of events to be decided at their big race meet at Manhattan Field on Saturday. They have secured Raymond McDonald, the champion class A rider, to ride a half mile against time and try to lower the record for that distance. Judging from the wonderful burnts of speed McDonald showed at Waverley last Saturday and at Bridgeport on Monday he should have no trouble in clipping half a second off the present figures. McDonald's performances this season have been really remarkable. He has ridden a mile in 2m. 14s. and beaten the best class A riders in the East.
